

Interior Design of Youth Services Van for Connexions London East with London Borough of Havering

This mobile information centre, designed for Connexions, Havering Youth Services enables them to work with young people where they are, on the street, and at outdoor events, concerts and gatherings.

The bus has a meeting space, video screen and computer terminals with full internet access. A built-in generator powers the equipment, a small kitchen provides refreshments and an outdoor awning extends the space in good weather.

This innovative youth project works with a range of agencies, helping them change the way they provide their services, aiming to involve young people as participants rather than recipients of youth services, and putting their needs first.
